

Ireland Fiber Optic Cable Bracket Manufacturer

Article Overview

Key providers of fiber optic components and mounting solutions in Ireland include Connectix Cabling Systems, WestLAN Networks, and Avena, all offering products and services suitable for fiber optic cable installation and support.

Leading Companies

Connectix Cabling Systems specializes in structured cabling solutions across Ireland, providing a range of fiber optic components and installation services that likely include cable brackets and mounting hardware for both commercial and industrial applications. WestLAN Networks offers high-performance data and fiber solutions, including end-to-end services from design to installation and testing. They work with premium brands such as Leviton, Excel, and Corning, ensuring durable and compliant fiber optic infrastructure, which typically involves brackets and support systems for secure cable management. Avena manufactures and supplies connectors and terminated cables for fiber optic networks. Their product range includes single-mode and multi-mode fiber, hybrid electro-optic connectors, and assemblies suitable for harsh environments, which often require compatible mounting brackets for proper installation.

Additional Providers

Other notable companies in Ireland include Alltec Fibre Optic Ireland and NT Connect, which provide fiber optic installation, splicing, and testing services. While primarily f...
