

Price of a small spectrometer in Uruguay

Article Overview

Small handheld spectrometers in Uruguay typically start around USD 300–500, depending on features and brand.

Overview of Options

For small, portable spectrometers, handheld optical spectrometers are available through online retailers like Desertcart Uruguay, which offers models with digital displays and 3.5-inch screens, often with free delivery across the country . Prices for these entry-level devices generally start at around USD 300–500, though higher-end models with advanced features can cost more.

Local Suppliers and Manufacturers

Uruguay has several local manufacturers and suppliers of spectrometers and spectrophotometers, including Aditya Systems (LADA brand) and Laboid International. These companies provide a range of instruments suitable for research, industrial, and educational purposes . While exact pricing varies based on specifications, customization, and order volume, contacting these suppliers directly can provide competitive quotes and information on delivery and support.

Considerations When Purchasing

- Type of spectrometer: Handheld vs. benchtop; handheld models are more affordable and portable.
- Measurement range and resolution: Higher precision instruments cost more....
