

Prices and Models of Armored Fiber Optic Patch Cords

Article Overview

Armored fiber optic patch cords typically range from $10 to $50 per meter depending on fiber type, connector, and customization options.

Pricing Overview

Armored fiber optic patch cords are designed for harsh environments, offering aluminum or steel armor, Kevlar reinforcement, and rodent resistance while maintaining flexibility . Prices vary based on several factors:

- Fiber Type: Singlemode (OS2, 9/125) or multimode (OM3, OM4, 50/125, 62.5/125) affects cost, with higher-speed fibers like OM4 or OM5 generally more expensive .
- Connector Type: LC, SC, ST, FC, MU, E2000, and APC variants influence pricing. MPO/MTP connectors are costlier due to precise alignment requirements .
- Length: Price increases linearly with cable length, with custom lengths (e.g., 17m, 23m) often available .
- Jacket and Armor: LSZH, PE, or flame-retardant jackets for indoor/outdoor use add to cost. Armored cables are more expensive than standard patch cords due to enhanced protection .
- Customization: OEM labeling, logos, or special color jackets may incur setup fees ($30-$100) but bulk orders reduce unit cost .
