

Rwandan supplier of compatible high-temperature resistant fiber optic Ethernet switches

Article Overview

APTD Limited in Rwanda provides fiber optic network solutions, and high-temperature compatible fiber optic devices can be sourced from specialized suppliers like MEISU and Corning.

Local Supplier: APTD Limited

APTD Limited is a Rwanda-based engineering and infrastructure company specializing in fiber optic networks, electrical systems, and telecom infrastructure. They offer services including design, installation, splicing, and testing of fiber optic networks with high precision and modern tools, making them a reliable partner for industrial or high-performance networking projects in Rwanda. While APTD primarily provides network infrastructure, they can assist in sourcing or integrating industrial-grade Ethernet switches and media converters suitable for demanding environments.

Fiber Optic Ethernet Switches in Rwanda

Rwandan suppliers also offer fiber optic Ethernet media converters and switches, such as the STRIDE line of industrial-grade unmanaged Ethernet switches. These include models like DLX-FS04/08, which feature multiple Ethernet ports and fiber optical ports, supporting Gigabit speeds and standard protocols (IEEE 802.3ab/z, 10/100/1000BASE-TX/SX/LX). These devices are suitable for industrial applications a...
